I create both sculptural and practical pieces, inspired by stories about place, water and the land. I use terracotta and other warm-toned clays, adding texture, the sheen of terra sigillata, and slips and glazes.

The play of light and shadow, the movement of clouds, rusted iron – these fleeting moments reveal perfection in imperfection. My wheel-thrown stoneware provides a canvas for expressing these glimpses.

Clay to me is the ideal story telling medium and I do so with my colourful garden sculptures which will be displayed throughout my bush-garden.
